Veteran Mining Leader Dies

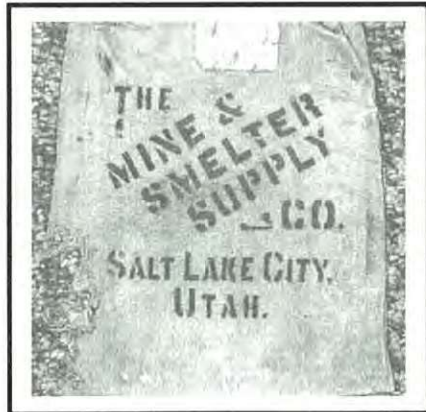

JESSE F. McDONALD.
 President emeritus of the Colorado Mining Association, a former governor of Colorado and one of the best known mining men in the West. He died at his Denver home, Wednesday.

Presentation Pick

This presentation pick was recently acquired by Leo Stambaugh, Georgetown, CO. It was made by the prison shop at Canon City, CO. for warden John Cleghorn to award Gov. Jesse McDonald, founder of the Colorado Mining Association.

Canvas Bag

This canvas bag was recently found at the Egeville mining district, Mineral County, Nevada. It contained litharge (a lead compound) for use in gold and silver fire assaying. The litharge was made by the American Smelting and Refining Company (ASARCO) and was distributed by the Mine and Smelter Supply Company in Salt Lake City, Utah. It is 1910-1920 vintage.
